

Wind, Waves Batter Gulf Coast Wednesday

STORMY WEATHER—The nine pictures above were taken Wednesday along the 12-mile Hancock county coast line. In the left row, top-to-bottom, a newly built beach house by the Bay Waveland Yacht Club is completely surrounded by water, while across the street the BWXCS two-acre peninsula is underwater. Six foot waves are shown battering the Waveland seawall, while, bottom photo shows Louis Fernandez trying to save a Waveland pier.

The three photos in the middle row picture cars facing a created "deadend" at Coleman Ave. and Beach Blvd. in Waveland as the rising water floods the streets. Bay St. Louis's 1,200 foot municipal pier being battered to pieces and a large oak tree which skinned the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Weather on Highway 90.

The popular American Legion pier is shown, in parts, floating towards the beach at the top right, while Topper Thompson and brother Bruce, both of Waveland, ride a skiff down Beach Blvd. by Nickleson Ave. in Waveland.

Whipped by 40-50 mile an hour winds, six-foot waves lashed Hancock county's 12 mile coastline all day Wednesday inflicting the worst damage suffered since the 1947 hurricane. County officials estimated damage to be $125,000.

Rainfall of 3.08 inches accompanied the high winds, which downed large trees, tore shingles off roofs and shattered windows. Raging water flooded beach homes and battered to pieces two 1,200-foot public piers in Bay St. Louis, and dealt extensive damage to numerous others in the area. Waves pounded the coastline, swamping craft and covering the Bay Waveland Yacht Club two-acre peninsula. Thirty boats in the harbor were said safely moored, but water reportedly reached a two-foot stage in the yacht club building.

United States weather bureau in New Orleans told the Sea Coast Echo that the outlook for the weekend is warmer weather, with scattered thunder showers in afternoons. A moderate southerly wind, 8-18 miles an hour, is forecast.

The U. S. Coast Guard at Keesler AFB, Biloxi, told the ECHO that two sea planes, a helicopter and a CG cutter is combing the Bay St. Louis area for four survivors of the tug Maedee that sank Wednesday, 10 miles off shore.

Fifteen crewmen were washed overboard when the 60-foot tug was swamped during the season's first tropical storm. Eight members were picked up the same day and yesterday three more were rescued.

Most serious damage to Hancock county was the total destruction of the Bay St. Louis municipal pier and the American Legion pier, a total loss of $20,000.

The west end of the county, Clermont Harbor and Lakeshore, reported only minor property damages while the east end of Bay St. Louis reported that 12 boats broke loose and are still being sought.

Ken Whitfield, Civil Defense director, described high winds that twisted his 120-foot emergency radio tower as a small tornado. Whitfield said he heard whistling sounds around 2 o'clock Wednesday morning, the same time Mrs. John Weather heard a mammoth oak tree fall, grazing her home on U. S. Hwy. 90. A subdivision in Gulfport reported a tornado striking the area early Wednesday.

Many residents reported television antennas being blown down.

Bay St. Louis police chief Alcine Saucier said his staff is patrolling the beach front watching for vandals and thieves that might steal property that had been blown away from its owners.

Mrs. Theo Tudury, chairman of the Bay St. Louis Parks and Playground Commission, said Thursday a crew of men had salvaged nearly 75 per cent of the material torn from the municipal pier, and that the pier would be replaced as soon as possible.

MAYOR ORDERS CRACKDOWN ON BAY SPEEDERS

Seize Whiskey

Mayor John Scarfe issued orders this week to the Bay St. Louis police department to curtail traffic violators and make arrests whenever necessary.

Three Mississippi Highway Patrolmen intercepted an automobile carrying 21 cases of bonded whiskey and gin Friday on Hwy. 90, west of Bay St. Louis.

Patrolman Irvin Rippey, one of the arresting officers, said that the car was driven by George Fava, 58, Pass Christian. Rippey said he and two other patrolmen, Bobby Taylor and Tommie Martin, halted the automobile for speeding and improper tag, and discovered the liquor inside the vehicle.

According to the officer Fava was booked in a justice of the peace court in Hancock county and the whiskey and gin destroyed at the scene.

A plea to the parents of teenage drivers to make a special effort to caution and advise their children of the serious consequence which may result from speeding and reckless driving was sounded by the mayor's department.

Business activity in the Bay St. Louis area showed an increase of 16 per cent above April, 1956.

BHS Bans Married Students

Bay St. Louis public schools will not admit married students or divorced students, starting with the school term beginning in September.

The resolution, passed by a board of trustees meeting last week, means, in effect, that married and divorced students cannot attend school in Bay St. Louis as the city's other two schools, St. Stanislaus and St. Joseph Academy do not admit married students.

S. J. Ingram, Supt. of Bay St. Louis public schools, said that the resolution included grammar school children.

The resolution stated that, "Since many of our patrons and the entire School Board feel that High School students are too young to be married, and since the school adminis-

JUNE BIRTH HONORED AT PINK TEA, SHOWER

The Don McCulloch home on N. Beach was the scene last Thursday when Mrs. McCulloch entertained in honor of Miss June Breath, who will be married on June 16, with a "pink" tea and shower.

The many gifts of hosiery and lingerie were presented to Miss Breath in a laundry cart covered with a pale pink sheet.

In the dining room, the pink color scheme was continued. The table was covered with an imported white linen cloth and lengths of pink satin ribbon.

The centerpiece of pink carnations was flanked by lighted pink tapers in crystal holders. Punch was served from crystal appointments and coffee from a silver service by Mrs. Boh and Miss Olson.

The Misses Sue and Linda Breath served as tea girls and passed assorted sandwiches and petit-fours decorated with pink roses and iced in pale green.

What would you do without low-price electricity in your home? Well you could use candles. And build fires. And substitute elbow-grease for all the jobs electricity does automatically. If you DID, you would be reminded quickly — and forcefully — how much electricity does for so little cost.

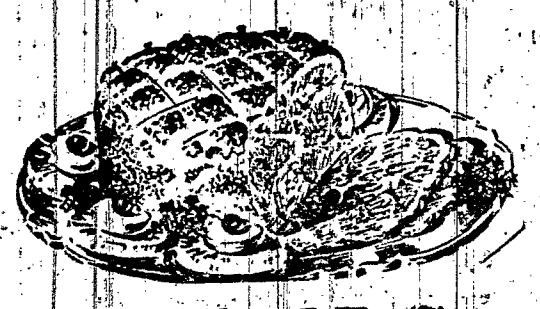

Electricity is the biggest bargain in your family budget. What else gives you such value in comfort, health, ease and fun? Keeping electricity high in usefulness, low in price is the main job of Mississippi Power Company.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Garbage is regularly collected on the city streets, on Tuesdays and Fridays. In the event weather conditions are such that garbage cannot be picked-up on these days, it will be picked-up on the succeeding days. GARBAGE AND GARBAGE ONLY WILL BE PICKED UP ON TUESDAYS AND FRIDAYS.

There have been many instances recently of people placing trash in garbage containers expecting it to be picked-up on Tuesdays and Fridays. We urgently request that this practice be stopped because it is most necessary that the garbage be picked-up off of the streets in one day. This can be done if only garbage is picked-up on Tuesdays and Fridays. Trash will be picked-up on either Wednesdays or Thursdays of each week. Public cooperation in this matter will be sincerely appreciated.

THE BAY AND THE BUDGET

In these days of mounting government debts and reckless spending of taxpayers' money, Bay St. Louis city officials are to be highly commended on their budget.

Despite the fact that the city school budget for 1954 and 1955 provided for an increase of $10,000 over the previous year, and the 1955-56 school budget was increased $12,000 more, the costs were met with no increase in the total ad valorem tax levy.

Judicious spending and sound business practices, aided by the city sales tax and state municipal aid bill, have made this possible.

The city officials now plan to issue $50,000 worth of much needed street improvements to be paid for out of the city sales tax revenue with no additional taxes levied.

And finally, Bay St. Louis has one of the lowest bonded indebtedness of any city in the state—about 1 1/4 per cent of the total assessed valuation.

THE RAINS

We finally got the rain we so badly needed. Someone must have run an advertisement similar to one that appeared in the West Branch, Iowa, Times a month or so ago.

The ad read "Wanted—General soaking rain. Please Rush, Cliff Perkins."

The paper went into the mail about 8:00 in the morning. By suppers time the rain came and brought an end to an 8-month dry spell. It's estimated the advertisement was worth millions to the residents of Cedar County and the state of Iowa.

You don't have to argue with Cliff Perkins and his friends on the power of the country press.

KEEP UP THE GOOD WORK

While we're tossing out bouquets, the Parks and Playgrounds Commission certainly is entitled to its share of lilacs and roses.

Our city beach is fast becoming one of the biggest tourist attractions on the Coast due to the many improvements and conveniences being added by the commission.

An ample supply of seats and shelter houses for the old folks, while the kids enjoy the swings and slides, fresh drinking water at four locations and two showers have been provided, and work now is under way to provide lights on the pier.

Work also is getting underway on a playground adjoining Valena C. Jones School for colored children, with three more negro playgrounds planned.

CABBAGES and KINGS

George Willey in his Langdon (N. D.) Republican, in his column "Thoughts While Wind-ing My Watch," says:

"About the only time the modern mother puts her foot down is when the traffic light turns green."

And J. A. Gilje in the Carrington (N. D.) Independent is a comforting cuss. He observes:

"You may not know all the answers, but you probably won't be asked all the questions, either."

"Yes sir," bragged the Mississippi River steamboat captain, "I know the location of every sand bar and snag in this river from St. Louis to New Orleans."

Just then the boat struck an underwater obstruction with a jarring impact.

"See," said the captain, "there's one of them now!"

Finding the origins of words in common use can often be a fascinating and surprising occupation.

The Exchange, a magazine issued by the New York Stock Exchange, recently gave the origins of various words connected with the world of finance. Wall Street comes from a palisade of wood built by the Dutch as a defense against Indians. Stock goes back to the Anglo-Saxon stock, meaning a tree trunk or a stick—in those times wood had to be stored for the winter, often in tree trunks.

Bond is a variation of the Middle-English word band, meaning a fastening. The issuer of a bond is "bound" to make repayment.

Capitalist derives from the Latin caput, for head. It is linked with cattle, for in ancient times a man's wealth was numbered by the number of cattle he owned and cattle were counted by the head. And broker was an Old French word for one who broached a cask to draw off the liquid.

Bulls and bears have a particularly picturesque origin. Long ago gamblers would sell bears' skins before the bears themselves had been trapped, in the hope that a falling market would bring profits. And the bulls got their name from this animal's habit of tossing things up into the air.

Thus do words go back into antiquity. And so, in a way, does the institution of the stock exchange itself. It is symptomatic of man's age-old desire to own and to accumulate and to exchange property—a desire on which civilization rests.

SOUTHERN SAMPLERS

BY CHRISTOPHER BELL

HOW TO WRITE THIS WEEK'S COLUMN??? For the past hour or so I've been sitting here pondering that question. Then, as part of the mental gyrations I go thru every week in the interest of literature (?), I asked myself: "What is a column?" That got me started!

To most people who have not much time, or too much sense, to read newspapers, a column is a post or pillar used to separate the attic and the basement of a building. There are four main classifications of columns; Doric, Ionic, Corinthian and Fifth. The first three held a lot of people up, and the last let a lot of people down.

One of my brothers, who likes to refer to himself as a "World Traveler" and Unofficial Good-Will Ambassador, (he's third assistant Deck Boy on a Lower-Slobbovian tramp steamer!) was spinning me a yarn about some columns he saw sticking up in the Lebanese desert a few years ago. Seems his ship docked in Beirut one Saturday evening and he decided to devote his Sunday off to cultural pursuits. (Actually, he'd heard about the "Ciders of Lebanon" and, being so me-what fond of apple juice, he thought he'd investigate. This he stoutly denies, but he's my brother and I KNOW!)

At any rate, bright and early Sunday morning he charged ashore, hired a rather dilapidated Chevrolet and driver to match, pointed in the direction of the distant mountains and was off.

After an allegedly breath-taking ride over the mountains our Adventurer came into the long, flat valley paralleling the coast. Here, so he claims, he encountered an Arab caravan, complete with evil-looking, mustachioed leader, his seven fat wives, and fourteen camels laden with everything imaginable from partially cured goat hides to a mechanical ice cream freezer, sent in for repairs by a luxury-loving chieftain in the hinterland. After a brief pause to exchange courtesies of the road, our Hero continued on his way, the richer by two camels, one wife and a broken ice cream freezer, which items he acquired from Abdul, the Caravan-Conductor, in trade for a brand new Yo-yo.

Our sharp Yankee Trader was sitting back, congratulating himself on his foresight in laying in a stock of Yo-yos, when, dead ahead of him, he saw six slender columns rising out of the bare desert. Just about then the driver stopped to let the camels and the ex-Mrs. Abdul No. 3 catch up with them. As old as that Chevie was, they were having quite a time keeping up. Our Tourist took this opportunity to hop out, and get a good view of the unexpected spectacle, and he tells me it was a sight to behold. Completely flat desert land with bits of scrub brush, sun-bleached camel bones and half-forgotten camel trails scattered about, and sticking right out of the middle of this desolation, these awe-inspiring columns. He says he was really impressed, and that's one of the few points in his story I'm inclined to believe.

After refereeing a slight brawl between his driver and

Notes

HAY SAVING

Good quality hay will pay you better than poor quality. You have the choice of which you will save.

Cutting in the right stage of maturity, curing just the right amount of time and storing properly all have a part in determining how good or how poor your hay will be.

Your local county agent can give you specific information on when and how to manage the different hay crops. See him for specific information.

DAIRY COWS

Take care of your dairy cows in hot weather—failure to do this can mean a serious drop in milk production.

Make sure that shade is available in all pastures. Practice night grazing where possible. The cows will graze more at night. Have an ample supply of clean, cool water close by the cows at all times. Cows will not walk great distances in the hot sun for water.

the freezer but definitely not the lady, our party continued on to the site of this marvelous structure. Here it was learned that these columns were the remains of the once-magnificent Temple of Baal, erected over 2000 years ago as the crowning glory of their holy city of Baalbek.

Our crafty Culture-Seeker saw another chance to turn a quick profit here and, as he was getting mighty tired of the ex-Mrs. etc., etc., screaming at his driver while the two exhausted camels stood by the side of the road and bawled for hay, or whatever they eat, he made a deal with the proprietor of the souvenir shop to trade the whole kit and kaboodle. He came out with 114 color post cards of Baalbek and environs (painted in St. Louis), three soap-stone replicas of the Temple as it supposedly was about 100 B. C. and Coca-Colas for himself and the driver. And, considering he only started with a two-bit Yo-yo, that wasn't so bad!

In conclusion I wish to add that, knowing my brother as I do I won't vouch for the factual accuracy of this stirring saga. I merely pass it along to you for what it's worth. I do think, however, that there is at least one bit of valuable advice here, and that is: If you ever go to Lebanon, take along a few Yo-yos.

Neither will they do much grazing in the heat of the day and a cow must eat to produce. So take care of your cows, protect them from the heat of the sun, give'em plenty of water, and feed. Don't let them fall off in milk production.

GARDENING INSECTS

Make regular checks on your home garden or insect damage. Making a good home garden can be fun and will also pay off. But not if you let the insects do your harvesting for you.

Get your free copy of the leaflet on controlling garden bugs. It is free and lists the major insects and tells how to control them.

PASTURES

Management will pay off on your pasture program. It is safe to predict that every permanent pasture in Mississippi will need mowing in June. And the man who does not mow, will have poorer pastures than does the man who does.

not be clipped off. June is also a time to make another planting of Sudan or millet for temporary grazing. It will pay to plant the Sudan or millet in rows. When planted in rows, ten pounds of seed per acre is enough. If planted broadcast, use double this amount.

Fertilizer should be put out at planting time. Those who wait and top dress after the plants are up lose about two weeks of good growing time.

On old Sudan or millet that has been grazed down, use the clipper. However, when using the clipper on these plants, raise the blade four to six inches so that enough joints will be left for more growth.

Nitrate good stands of Dallis and Bermuda in June. Don't wait until later in the year as drought may catch the plants. Apply 30 to 40 pounds of nitrogen per acre.

Do not mow or clip off good grass. Raise the blade four to six inches so that all cover will

in a LOVING, SOVEREIGN GOD

A little brown-eyed girl returning home from Sunday school said to her mother, "I wish God were like Jesus."

When her mother asked her what she thought about God, she indicated that to her God was distant and unfriendly. She thought Jesus kind, friendly, and very close.

Her mother explained to her that much of what we know about God is what Jesus told us about him. She reminded her of the statement Jesus used to describe God to his disciples: "O righteous Father, the world hath not known thee: but I have known thee..." (John 17:25), and "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father" (John 14:9). Her mother said that Jesus came to earth and showed us what God is like.

With her big brown eyes she looked at her mother and said, "So my wish has come true. God is like Jesus."

Have you wondered what God is like? Baptists follow the Bible in believing Jesus showed us what God is like. The Bible teaches that God is all powerful, but also so that he makes moral laws which he himself obeys. For instance, God has said, "Thou shalt not bear false witness." He does not lie. God is supreme but he is not a cruel dictator, arbitrarily exercising his supreme power without regard for justice.

God is love. Jesus made this very plain. He once said, "God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son..." (John 3:16). His love is a giving love.

The greatest demonstration of the supreme power of God is found in what he did in giving his Son to die for us, so that by accepting his Son we might have eternal life with God. God shows his great power in his great love. Love teaches that it is greater to give life than to kill.

To build up than to destroy, to give than to get, to lift up than to crush, to heal than to hurt. The little brown-eyed girl made one of life's greatest discoveries when she found out that all of the love and helpfulness she saw in Jesus is the love and helpfulness God gives. God's greatness is proved in what Jesus showed he does for man.

God loves us and wants us to accept his offer to save us from sin. But he will not force this love on us. We must make our own choice. He will not compel us to accept his love against our will.

God is friendly; he is gracious. He wants to be known as Father. Jesus told his disciples to shut themselves up in a closet with God and say, "Our Father." Alone with God—it is the safest place in the world. This is what Baptists believe.

Kiln Baptist Revival Set For June 17

The Shifalo Memorial Baptist Church in Kiln announces their summer revival, which will begin Sunday June 17.

Rev. S. P. Powell, pastor of Union Baptist Church in Pacyune will be the visiting evangelist. Rev. Tom Lee, a member of the faculty of Clark College in Newton, Miss., and a native of Pacyune, will direct the singing.

Rev. Powell was superintendent of the Kiln School for many years and Rev. Lee was a deacon in the old Kiln Baptist Church which was located at that time by the mill. This will be an opportunity for everyone not only to hear and enjoy the Gospel but also to see, hear and fellowship with these two men they have known so long.

Rev. Bob McNamee, pastor of the Kiln church wishes to give all a loving invitation to attend this week of revival meetings. The meeting is scheduled to close Sunday June 24. On this day there will be dinner served on the grounds and following this there will be a baptizing service in Dr. C. M. Bannister's swimming pool.

Parties Honor Miss Breath

The first in a series of local parties honoring bride-elect June Breath was held at the Bay-Walton Yacht Club on Tuesday afternoon with Mesdames Dan Russell and J. E. Erwin as hostesses. The ladies greeted their guests at the doorway of the club, beside a table covered with an imported cut-work cloth and centered with a doll dressed as a bride. Mrs. Russell chose for the occasion a summer model of yellow cotton with white accessories; Mrs. Erwin a rose linen made on simple lines; Mrs. Charles Breath, Jr., the mother of the honoree, a white polished-cotton with an all over embroidery of yellow flowers in a petite design. Gardena corsages completed the ladies' attire.

To further carry out the yellow and white color motif, the punch table was covered with a white linen cloth, centered with a milk glass bowl of pale yellow zinnias flanked by yellow candles in crystal holders.

The gifts for the honoree were displayed on another table with similar decorations. Four aunts of the bride served punch and were mesdames Roger Boh, Hugh Bourgeois, Douglas Bourgeois, and Miss Josie Olson. Tea girls who passed the delicious party delicacies were the Misses Linda and Sue Breath, Karen Kerstgen and Tempe Perkins.

There were about sixty-five guests in attendance.

The said proceedings have been spread at length upon the permanent records of said Board of Mayor and Commissioners, in Book 7, Commission Council Series.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of said City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, this 4th day of June, 1956.

J. Cyril Glover,
(Seal) City Clerk

MONEY MANAGEMENT
At the end of the month or a shopping trip, we have all wondered where all our money went. The Wallace's, a typical, but make-believe farm family, had this same problem.

They found an answer, that all six members of the family liked and that all six had a part in determining. If you'd like to read about them and their money management ideas, ask at the home Agent's office for a copy of Extension Publication 319, "The Wallace's Win This Way". It's yours for the asking.

The back page give a list of "money stretchers" that may give you an idea to help your budget. The first one on the list is: Avoid "spur of the moment" purchases. Use planned shopping lists.

WHAT TO DO FOR A BLISTER
As you work in the garden, your flowers, or slice cucumbers for pickles, you may be unfortunate and make a blister on your hand. And then the question arises as to just what you should do to keep it from being so painful or getting infected.

The advice is to open it the following way: Insert a sterilized needle under the skin near the blister, and bring out the point inside the blister. Then carefully press out the water. Wash the blistered area with alcohol, or wash it with iodine.

before and after opening it. Thoroughly wash your hands with soap and water both before and after working on the blister. To sterilize the needle, make the tip red hot in an open flame; then let it cool.

JUNE, DAIRY MONTH
Along with the hot weather of June, comes a plentiful supply of dairy products. And what can be more refreshing and cooling than a tall glass of milk or a bowl of creamy ice cream.

You will find milk fits into your menus for cooking, for drinking and for delicious desserts. So take advantage of the abundant supplies and use more dairy products. Milk, cheeses, butter, ice cream and all other dairy products add nourishment and enjoyment to a meal—and between meals, too.

ROUND PURPLE STAMP
A small round purple "stamp of approval" found on many cuts of meat is your assurance of cleanliness and wholesomeness. Mrs. Shopper. Its twin, printed on labels of canned and frozen meats and other meat products, reads "U.S. Inspected and passed by Department of Agriculture".

The stamps mean that a trained Inspector has carefully examined the pieces of meat or the meat product bearing the stamp and found it satisfactory as human food.

What Industry returns 1/3 of it's purchases to the farm

Grains purchased by the brewing industry are enriched in the process of making beer. This by-product and brewer's yeast provide the farmer's basic source of high-protein feed supplement for livestock and poultry. The results are better eggs, poultry and dairy products.

Mississippi's tax on malt beverages remains unchanged as one of the highest in the nation, but other legislative action will substantially reduce this important revenue. Until this year, the brewing industry was the state's 4th largest taxpayer — yielding 4 million dollars year after year for Mississippi schools, rural roads and other necessary functions of local and state government.

Public acceptance of beer as the beverage of moderation is growing nationwide. The latest survey shows beer is served in well over 2/3 of American homes. And "at home" consumption accounts for the largest part of beer sales.
